

Penobscot Fly Fishers NEWSLETTER

Wind Knots

October 2006

Don Corey
President

We are rapidly approaching a great time of the year. The temperatures are cooling down and leaves are starting to change into their vibrant autumn colors. Fishing is still open in many areas so check your law books if you have any questions. We will soon be able to bird hunt and deer season is right around the corner. Cast and blast, it doesn't get much better than that.

As the fishing season slows down, our fall and winter club activities start to pick up. Ron Landry will be teaching a fly tying class through the Bangor Adult Ed program beginning the first week of October. At press time he is still looking for people to help with the course. If you are interested contact Ron at 825-3089.

We may try to have a one day fall advanced fly tying class like we did last spring. It was a huge success and there is no reason not to have another. Stay tuned for more details.

The annual beginners' fly tying class at Bangor Parks and Rec will start on Thursday, January 4, 2007. We have had some suggestions about including some other topics in the course. Knots and equipment will be included in this years curriculum. Sign up will be on a first come first serve basis. In order to be included on the class role you must have paid your class fee of $30. All materials and equipment will be provided, AND refreshments! For more information on the class and/or to register contact Don Corey (don@annikarodandfly.com or 843-5634).

In order for this class to be a success, we need instructors to assist the students. We like to maintain a 2 student to 1 instructor ratio. So, we will need 8 – 12 instructors, especially the first few weeks. If you can volunteer for 1 week or 8, anything would be a great help. Please contact Don to put your name on the list. Thanks in advance for your continued support.
